

The World of Nonverbal Digital Communication*

* Please, note that the organizations, brands, and individuals listed here are just some of the most notable and prominent players in the industry. They do not represent the entire economy of emoji, stickers, gifs, and avatars. If you know of any other influential representatives that you think should be added to this list, please feel free to reach out to us. We will appreciate your input and look forward to updating and expanding this concept map over time.
